BARE PLOT TO KILL HITLER

LONDON, Oct. 29 (INS)—The London Daily Mirror, in an undated dispatch, reported today that Germany ordered the round-up of Polish Jews because "Nazi secret police say they have discovered a plot to assassinate Chancellor Hitler and his chief lieutenants."

The Mirror claimed the Gestapo had reported that a group of Polish anarchists, formerly living in Sudetenland, entered Germany and that every man in the group had "sworn to kill Hitler or die."

Two days ago, the story added, Hitler visited the grave of his niece—and a bomb was discovered in the cemetery.

Nazis Exile 15,000 Jews in New Terror

BERLIN, Oct. 29—Germany's mass deportation order so far has hit between 15,000 and 20,000 Polish Jews throughout the Reich, it was learned on high authority today.

U. S. Probe Jap Bombing Raid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The state department sought additional details today about the reported bombing of a flag-marked mission in China which killed a three-year-old American girl and wounded her mother and eight-year-old sister.

A dispatch from Ambassador Johnson at Chungking, China, did not report the nature of the bombing, but press dispatches from Hankow said Japanese planes were reported to have destroyed the mission.

Phoebe Nyhus, daughter of Arthur E. Nyhus, Lutheran Brethren missionary at Tungpeh, was the girl who was reported killed. A consular dispatch from Hankow said Nyhus and his wife were natives of Fertile, Iowa.

Rail Wage Cut Report Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—President Roosevelt's fact-finding board put into final form for delivery to the White House today its report on the deadlock between railroad labor and management over a 15 per cent wage reduction.

Mr. Roosevelt arranged to receive the report at 12:30 p. m. White House aides said it would be made public as soon as feasible after the President had studied it, probably during the afternoon.

De Mille's Grandson Gets Film Job

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29 (AP)—Cecil De Mille's new grandson, Christopher Quinn, is only two days old but already he's on the way to a motion picture career.

Christopher was born Thursday night to Katherine De Mille, in private life Mrs. Anthony Quinn.

De Mille said the child will be seen in "Union Pacific," in a part calling for a two-month-old infant.

Stock Prices Again Ease

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Stocks generally displayed a slightly easier tone in today's early market proceedings.

At a moderately active opening fractional losses were registered for U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Loew's, Western Union, Southern Pacific, N. Y. Central, General Electric, Santa Fe and Anaconda.

FALL PROVES FATAL

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Oct. 29 (AP)—Moise Jodoin, 70, died at Woonsocket Hospital from injuries suffered when he fell 20 feet from a porch at T. Hospice St. Antoine to a cement walk. Chief Inspector Ernest E. Durand of Woonsocket police said he was trying to locate relatives of the man.

While the expulsions have been "tentatively suspended" during negotiations over Warsaw's drastic passport laws, a new crisis arose with a Polish threat to deport an equal number of Germans.

At least one third, or a minimum of 5000, of the Jews thus far affected by the banishment arrived across the Polish border in special trains, or were pushed across the frontier at Silesian points.

Another third still wait at Polish border stations, where the Poles refuse to admit them, and the remainder are being transported to the frontier in slower stages.

NEGOTIATIONS SNAGGED

Berlin's drastic action, it was ascertained, followed an ultimatum to Warsaw two days ago, calling for cancellation of the decree threatening Poles in Germany with loss of their nationality.

The Reich, in spite of Poland's possible retaliation, is standing pat on its rule that unless the Poles within Germany are able to retain their Polish nationality, they must get out.

Negotiations with Warsaw apparently have covered little ground, and are merely postponing the eventual mass deportation of 100,000 more persons.

The negotiations were resumed this morning, but it appeared evident that no final agreement was reached. However, shortly after noon the Polish embassy issued a statement:

"The first stage of the Polish-German negotiations has concluded and no further negotiations will be taken up."

It was added that the talks nevertheless brought tentative suspension of the "extraordinary measures for the time being."

An official German announcement on the issue is expected later.

EXODUS STILL ON

Until the German position is made public officially, the future of thousands of Polish Jews in the Reich will remain gravely uncertain. This morning the mass exodus begun yesterday went forward swiftly.

Informed Nazi quarters predicted gradual departure of the "majority of the remnants of Polish Jews from the Reich." Some sources even termed this a "certainty."

Several hundred Polish Jews, many of them women and children, again besieged the Polish consulate, milling about the building all morning in an effort to obtain validation of their passports.

As on yesterday, many of these weeping Jewish women complained that they were trying to locate relatives of the man.

Holdup Nets 3 Bandits $250 In Roxbury

Three bandits wearing blue-colored glasses robbed a gasoline station attendant and severely beat his assistant with the butt of a revolver in a holdup in Warren street, Roxbury, early today.

They fled with $250 cash and several checks.

The trio entered the station just as George Starr, 35, night attendant, and Michael Basick, 26, his assistant, were closing up.

While two of the bandits pointed guns at the victims, the third looted the cash drawer.

The gunmen then took about $40 of Starr's own money.

As they fled, they beat Basick over the head with a gun butt. He was later treated at the City Hospital for puncture wounds in the cheek.

The car believed used by the trio was found by police less than half an hour later on Albany street, South End.

Six cruiser and special service squad cars were rushed to the vicinity of the holdup in an effort to corner the gang.

The bandits are believed to have staged a dozen South End and Roxbury holdups in recent weeks.

2 Suicides Use Fumes From Autos

A Westwood man committed suicide today by inhaling auto exhaust fumes, a few hours after an almost exactly similar suicide in Cambridge.

The Westwood victim, Winston Weller, 34, was found slumped in his car in a garage behind his home in Oxford street.

The motor was running, police said. Discovery of the body was made by Mrs. Weller, Norwood firemen used an inhalator in a vain attempt at resuscitation.

The death was pronounced suicide by Dr. Otto Schofield, medical examiner.

The Cambridge suicide victim, Richard R. Joslyn, 51, of Rockingham street, was found locked in his auto, which was parked near Memorial Drive three blocks from his home.

An improvised hose connected the exhaust-pipe with the interior of the car.

Police said Joslyn left a note addressed to his wife, Mrs. Mary Joslyn. It read:

"If the future holds no more for me than the past, it seems to be of no use to live any longer. Bob has been a good boy. Goodbye."

Bob is Robert Poslyn, son of the victim.

Duce's Son Takes Bride

ROME, Oct. 29 (INS)—Bruno Mussolini, second son of Il Duce, today married 21-year-old Signorina Gina Rubetti, daughter of Commendatore Guido Rubetti, at St. Joseph's Parish church in Rome.

Young Mussolini wore the uniform of an officer of the Italian air force, adorned with a silver medal he gained while fighting with the Italian forces in Ethiopia. The couple passed from the church under the crossed daggers of a platoon of Il Duce's own special bodyguard of musketeers. Crown Prince Humberto, Il Duce and Count and Countess Ciano attended the wedding.

'Hi Yo, Silver' Fun's Ended!

Runaway Girl Found Safe With Her Horse

ADAMS, Oct. 29—After state troopers and police of more than a dozen communities had combed highways and woodlands in search of pretty Peggy Rowe, 18-year-old blonde runaway who fled home riding a silver-haired saddle horse, her mother reported today that the girl had been found in Pittsfield.

The mother, Mrs. Carl Perry, of Grove street, told police "Peggy" left her house yesterday afternoon in a huff.

After alternately galloping and walking the horse more than 20 miles, the girl became weary and stopped at the home of friends in Pittsfield overnight, she told her mother.

Pittsfield police, learning of the disappearance over state police teletype, had already begun a search in that city.

Information was received by authorities which later led to her finding.

Both "Peggy" and "Silver," her horse, were returned home by police.

As punishment, Peggy has been forbidden to ride her horse and "Silver" must remain in the stable, Mrs. Perry said.

The girl's stepfather is an executive in a local mill.

Her mother explained "there had been a little argument," and "guessed that was the reason Peggy 'ran away,' police were told.

The girl had been home only two weeks after an appendicitis operation.

Bars Dayton School Closing

DAYTON, O., Oct. 29 (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Noll M. Hodapp today issued a temporary restraining order prohibiting the Dayton board of education from closing the city's schools to 34,000 students.

The board was ordered to open its doors as usual Monday and to continue operations pending a hearing on a permanent injunction to prevent closing. The petition was filed by Richard Withrow, the only dissenting member of the board which ordered the closing because of a bare treasury and $61,000 deficit.

Withrow said the closing order "is unnecessary at this time." He added the closing would leave the question of teachers' contracts in the air.

Stabbing Victim Near Death; Quiz 2

A 35-year-old North End man was reported near death of stab wounds today as police questioned two other men, alleged to have been involved in a fight with the victim outside a Blackstone street, North End, cafe.

The wounded man, William Lasovitz of Ashland street, was found unconscious in Blackstone street. He was unable to name his assailants.

Ruth Faces Rival In Etting Drama

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 29 (INS)—A dramatic meeting was scheduled here today, when Ruth Etting, radio songbird, and Mrs. Alma Alderman, former wife of Miss Etting's present mate, Myrl S. Alderman, come face to face.

They were to meet in the offices of Attorney S. S. Hahn, with Alderman's love and $150,000 at stake.

Miss Etting, whose former husband, Marvin "Colonel Gimp" Snyder, allegedly shot and wounded Alderman, was to give a deposition in the alienation of affections suit brought against her by Mrs. Alderman.

Snyder, meanwhile, was still confined to the county jail, unable to raise $50,000.

Atlantic Woman Hurt in Crash

Mrs. Marilla Blaisdell, 77, of Grove street, Atlantic, was reported in serious condition at City Hospital today from injuries received in a crash of her son's automobile and a stolen car in South Boston.

Police said she was riding with her son, Clarence W. Blaisdell, Hovey street, Atlantic, when the stolen car, driven by two youths, jammed into them at L and East Ninth streets.

The youths in the stolen car fled.

Hopkins Pays Visit To Jim Roosevelt

HOLLISTER, Cal., Oct. 29 (INS)—WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins was a guest today at the ranch where James Roosevelt, the President's eldest son, has been convalescing from his recent operation.

He arrived at the ranch in an automobile and was accompanied by Mrs. James Roosevelt.

BEHEADED FOR TREASON

BERLIN, Oct. 29 (AP)—Hugo Zappo, 34, of Dresden, was beheaded today for treason. He was convicted for posing as a Sudeten refugee and thereby obtaining German secrets which he conveyed to the Czechs.

Captain Scoffs at Fire Plot on German Ship

DANGEROUS SLUMBER—While liner Deutschland's crew was fighting fire in mid-ocean, third-class passengers vacated their cabins and slept like this in the parlor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—An explosion and fire aboard the Hamburg-American liner Deutschland which sent three freighters racing to her rescue was blamed today by her master, Captain Karl Steincke, on an accumulation of gases in the ship's hold.

As the ship docked last night, its 591 passengers—laughing and joking—told anew of the heroic nine-hour struggle by the 369 crew members to control the blaze.

Scouting the possibility of sabotage, Captain Steincke said no estimate of damage could be made until insurance surveyors inspected the burned cargo today. There was no visible damage to the ship's exterior.

The captain was fervent in praise of his crew, 22 of whom were overcome before the fire was smothered by pumping live steam and 50 tanks of carbon dioxide into the smoldering hold.

He declared the passengers could see smoke pouring from the bulkheads, but behaved with remarkable calmness. He paid special tribute to his chief officer, Alfred Raschke, who entered the burning hold and was overcome four times while directing the fire-fighting crew.

"It was with a heavy heart that I decided to call freighters in the neighborhood," he said. "I was conscious of the fact that this created great excitement, especially among relatives and acquaintances of the passengers and crew, but I could not take that into consideration."

$201,111 Netted In Jewish Drive

Contributions to the 1938-39 Associated Jewish Philanthropies campaign today totaled $201,111. High tribute was paid all workers in the campaign by Milton Kahn, chairman of last year's drive, at the second workers' report luncheon.

Trade and professional teams which head in the percentage increase over last year were announced as follows:

Liquor and beverages, 77 per cent; department stores, 46 per cent; paper, 32 per cent; dentists, 26 per cent.

$10,000 DRESS THEFT

A former employee of G. & L. Manufacturing Company in Kingston street and three other men were sought today in connection with the theft of dresses worth $10,000. Police have recovered $1000 worth of the goods in South End roads.

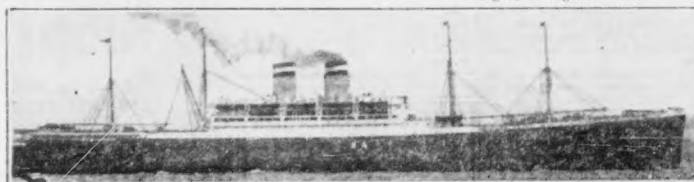

4 Women Drown In Auto Plunge

MONTREAL, Oct. 20 (Canadian Press)—Four women were drowned when their automobile plunged into the Lachine Canal in suburban Ville Emard.

The victims were Mrs. J. Maurice Hunter, 32; Mrs. Frieda M. Hunter, 53; and Mrs. Louise Kelly, 48, all of Huntington, Que., and Mrs. H. G. Gessner, 63, New York City.

SHOWGIRL Marie Kelly was one of 59 passengers threatened with possible loss of life when fire broke out on the S. S. Deutschland which arrived in New York yesterday. It took the crew 8 hours to conquer the blaze.

U. S. Girl London Fashion Queen?

LONDON, Oct. 20 (INS)—London society speculated today on its lineup of contenders for the honor of reigning fashion queen—and it all simmered down to an admission that an American may top the list.

The appointment of the Duke of Kent to the post of governor-general of Australia will leave vacant the throne that the duchess, former Princess Marina of Greece, has occupied over British femininity.

It is generally agreed that the Virginia-born Countess Beatty is the most likely choice, although the social Marchioness of Crewe, makes the latter a formidable contender.

Countess Beatty is the former Mrs. Dorothy Power Sands, a daughter of T. E. Power, of Virginia. She has been in virtual retirement for nearly a year, nursing her husband, seriously injured in a fall while hunting. She is due to reappear shortly to assume her leadership in the world of fashion. The Duchess of Roxburghe has a large following. The youngest duchess in England, she was married three years ago, at the age of 20, in a ceremony at Westminster Abbey which attracted a brilliant assemblage of London society leaders.

Two others are also taken into consideration. They are Lady Ursula Manners, daughter of the Duke of Rutland; the beauty who stole the show at the coronation of King George and Queen Elizabeth; and the Duchess of Norfolk.

The departing Duke and Duchess of Kent will become the social kingpins in Australia, with the status of miniature king and queen.

Bequests Get Chill Reception

Release of $3,000,000 in "frozen assets" left by deceased Bay Staters is sought by Attorney General Paul A. Dever.

Some of the beneficiaries, however, don't want to be benefited.

In Stoughton, town officials don't want to accept $60,000 left by Edwin A. Jones for a hospital. In North Attleboro, selectmen are coy about using $40,000 left by M. H. Macbeth for a hospital. Nobody in Fitchburg is exhibiting any enthusiasm for the erection of a home for aged persons, as provided for in the will of Clarence M. Pratt.

And trustees of a $678,000 fund left by Henry O. Peabody of Boston for a girls' school in Norwood and Westwood have asked the courts what to do with it.

Dever has filed 60 petitions in various probate courts.

Marseille Fire Death Toll 56

MARSEILLE, Oct. 20 (AP)—The official death list from last night's fire mounted to 56 today and it was feared the toll might reach 100.

Besides those known to be dead, many were missing, particularly in the Nouvelles Galeries De Paris department store where the blaze started.

Firemen said there were "benches" of bodies at the bottom of a stairway which collapsed.

Thirty-five persons were being treated in hospitals.

The list of known casualties included five dead and 35 injured.

Some of these, ironically, were workmen constructing a fire-proof cellar to protect employees against air-raid fires in the five-story building. The floors of the department store collapsed less than 30 minutes after the fire was discovered.

Because of the fire, the national convention of Premier Edouard Daladier's radical Socialist party adjourned this afternoon instead of continuing over the week-end. Daladier took personal charge of the fire fighting.

Today's short session of the Radical Socialist convention was concerned primarily with Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet's defense of the government's foreign policy and adoption of the party's political platform.

Troops with fixed bayonets stood guard throughout the night around the smoking ruins to stop looting.

LOW NUMBER WARNING

Materials men have low registration plates today were warned they stand to lose their four-figure numbers this year unless their applications reach the registry before Monday.

Boom Surprise to Lodge

Senator Is Pleased, But Sticks to His Job

When the people of Massachusetts elected him, they gave him a full-time job and the job is going to get his full time, U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., said here today.

"All of which means," he explained, "that while I am naturally pleased at the presidential boom launched for me in New Jersey, I have still four years' work ahead in the Senate and that's what I'm thinking of now."

The junior senator from Massachusetts came home to Beverly today for the first time in two weeks. He did a fortnight's tour of military duty as a reserve lieutenant at Fort McGill, A. K. A., then stopped off at a Republican rally in Hackensack, N. J., last night.

BOOM IS SURPRISE

The "Lodge for President" boom, begun by David J. Allen, a New Jersey G. O. P. county leader, really surprised him, Senator Lodge said.

"I was surprised even more by the reception I received at Hackensack last night," he added. "It was probably the best I ever had—outside my own home state."

"I had to tell everyone, though, that I am honestly entertaining no presidential aspirations now. I know there is enough to be done in the Senate for Massachusetts to keep me busy for the next four years, anyhow."

STUDIES NEW LAW

The senator said he hadn't yet had time to observe the effects of the new Wage-Hour Law, but went on:

"I'll probably know more about it in short order. My desk here at home is piled with correspondence and I'm getting ready to dig in."

A full picture of him in uniform at Fort McGill, published in a national pictorial magazine this week, was another surprise, the senator said.

"I didn't know photographer was shooting until it was over, and then I didn't expect to see it splashed the way it was," he remarked.

Senator Lodge said that his plans were rather indefinite for the moment, but that he expected to be "pretty busy" for the next few days.

"There's an election coming, you know," he smiled.

Lodge Demands Aid

For Business, Workers

HACKENSACK, N. J., Oct. 29 (AP).—U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. (R.) of Massachusetts, said last night that if an "atmosphere conducive of new business" could be created, this country would "surge ahead" and then charged that the last two sessions of Congress had "done almost nothing to encourage the building of new business."

Lodge, speaking in behalf of the candidacy of W. Warren Barbour, Republican of United States Senator, declared the business man "is our best hope for jobs" and that "it was the government's duty to create 'an atmosphere in which new businesses can thrive, thereby making new jobs and new wealth.'"

Lodge declined to discuss a "Lodge for President in 1940" boom started by a group of Hudson County Republicans.

BEING SENATOR A JOB

"I am very lucky to be in the Senate," he said in Newark. "I'm giving up and intend to give up all my time to be a good Senator. It's a full-time job."

He told the Bergen county meeting a "great deal of employment" could be created in the United States "if we had a more adequate degree of protection against imports from certain foreign countries."

"We should prevent people in other countries from chiseling business away by undercutting wages," he continued. "And this does not mean that we favor exorbitantly high tariffs which can be used by unscrupulous people as a cloak to raise prices and milk the public."

"It does mean, however, that the differential between the American wage and the foreign wage must be equalized."

LOW PRICE DANGER

"I freely admit that the old tariff system had many faults and I am strongly opposed to its return. It is equally clear that our interests as consumers must be considered as well as our interests as producers."

"Obviously we do not want to pay high prices if we can help it, but I also contend that a price which is so cheap that it throws your neighbor and mine out of work is too cheap a price."

"It is a cost which comes back at us all—not merely in tax rates and welfare costs—but in loss of pride, loss of health, loss of morals and all those other tragic blows which fall with the loss of a job."

MUST BE CONSISTENT

"It is inconsistent for a government to try to raise wages, raise taxes and raise all costs generally with one hand and with the other talk about lowering tariffs. If you wish to lower American wages, you cannot do both."

Lodge also suggested that money for the unemployed be distributed in the trade, and that the unemployment in a state bears to the total of unemployed in the United States.

He recommended that those who distribute relief money be placed on civil service and that their appointment be on the basis of merit.

'Lost' Girl Back In School Today

Object of a 12-hour search by police and Boy Scouts, Marion Moore, 11, will be back in boarding school in Waltham today or tomorrow.

She just got homesick, and walked 11 miles to the home of her grandfather, Prof. William T. Hall, 5 Ararat park, Jamaica Plain, to see her mother.

Kidnaping was feared when her absence was noted.

Doorstep Parking Legal, Says McGlue

Judge Frederick W. Poole today continued until Monday Superior Court hearing on seven charges of overtime parking brought by Boston police against Charles H. McGlue, former chairman of the state Democratic committee.

McGlue stated he will carry the cases to the Supreme Court on grounds he has the right to park his car in front of his Marlborough street, Back Bay, home.

Window Washer Injured in Fall

Falling from the third floor of the Boston City Hospital tuberculosis sanitarium in Mattapan, Bernard Begley, 59, of Arthur street, Somerville, a window washer, narrowly escaped death today.

Begley landed on both feet, according to witnesses, receiving fractures of each ankle, broken left leg and possible spinal injuries.

DEATH is preferable to life without love, George Newhall, right, told federal authorities here when brought back from North Carolina for trial on charges of violation of Mann Act. He still insists he loves Shirley Smith, left, with whom he fled Winchester. He is accused of kidnaping her. With Newhall are Marshal Murphy and Attorney Thomas A. Gibson.

Newhall Weeps For Lost Love

Crestfallen over discovery that the girl he loves has turned her back on him, George Everett Newhall, 26, of Winchester, today wept in his cell in East Cambridge jail while a special guard kept constant watch over him.

Newhall, who faces charges of violation of the Mann Act for a runaway trip to North Carolina with Shirley Smith, 18, Winchester playground instructor, had believed the girl would be at his side when he went to trial.

During his trip north with federal officers, he proclaimed undying love for the pretty Winchester girl. Now he has been told that not only has she repudiated him, but is a witness against him.

"I could have gotten away any time on the way north," Newhall stated dejectedly when told of the new turn in his affairs.

"I was not handcuffed at any time. Yet I was willing to stand trial because I thought that we eventually could be happy together. Now that is all smashed. There doesn't seem much to live for."

Carney Asks Quick Trial

NEW BEDFORD, Oct. 29.—Defense counsel today demanded speedy trial for Mayor Leo E. J. Carney and 17 members of the city council, out on bail after pleading not guilty to conspiracy charges involving alleged graft in municipal affairs.

Mayor Carney was freed in $5000 bail while plans were set for trial some time prior to the municipal election, early in December. Seventeen members of the city council furnished bail of $1000 each, while James F. McKenna, the mayor's secretary, was freed in $5000 bonds.

Joseph L. Millette, former deputy sheriff, furnished $2500 bail. The conspiracy indictments were returned by a special grand jury after presentation of evidence by District Attorney William C. Crossley.

HIT BY CAR, 'SPECS' BREAK

Hurled 12 feet when struck by a hit-run automobile near his home early today, Herbert Lyons, Jr., 39, of Archdale road, West Roxbury, escaped with a broken pair of spectacles.

National Vote Scandal Looms

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (INS).—Bitter charges of fraud in the national congressional campaign were hurled today as Democratic and Republican leaders redoubled efforts in their fight to control the House.

Fraudulent registration and illegal use of money formed the basis of charges made by both sides. Predictions of "national scandals" were made.

The Democratic Congressional committee planned to file a contest in Delaware, in the event the Republicans succeed in capturing the sole Congressional seat from that state.

Democrats charged wholesale illegal registration in Delaware and raising of "slush fund," and raised same charge regarding Rhode Island, with emphasis upon excessive use of money.

FALL PROVES FATAL

Five hours after he fractured his skull in a fall down a flight of stairs in the rooming house where he lived, Steven Kroski, 61, of Pearl street, Chelsea, died in Chelsea Memorial Hospital today.

Records introduced during the trial show that Miss Howes paid Mrs. Hutchins $20,000, and her husband, the chauffeur, $3500.

Mrs. Hutchins, married again, is about 45. Miss Howes is 60.

The spinster formerly operated Bleak House, a summer hotel in Dennis.

The matron still has a breach of contract action against the Boston woman. Whether that will be permitted is up to Judge Brogan.

Order Suspect In Sally Clark Case to Hospital

Peter Harrison, 35, Lynn shoe worker, was ordered to Boston Psychopathic Hospital "for observation" today after being questioned in connection with crank letters sent to Sally Clark, socialite sister of Mrs. John Roosevelt.

The Lynn court followed recommendations of Dr. Charles E. Worthing and Dr. Eugene M. Doffo, city physicians, that Harrison be hospitalized.

The shoe worker allegedly admitted a series of letters to Miss Clark as well as to Governor Hurley, Mayor J. Fred Manning, the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin and President Roosevelt, and said he meant no harm by the letters.

He was trapped by Sally's mother, Mrs. F. Haven Clark, who noticed a social security number in one of the letters and told police.

Tech Sophs Nurse Bruises

M. I. T. sophomores today were victorious over the freshmen but they nursed plenty of bruises following the annual knock-down field day at Tech field.

The feature event of the annual clash—the glove fight—was won by the sophomores, thus giving them victory by a 10 to 9 score.

Included on the program was a crew race, a relay race, a tug of war and the glove contest in which 500 battles fought all over the field until their clothing was in shreds.

$100,000 Love Suit Against Spinster Barred by Court

BARNSTABLE, Oct. 29.—A $100,000 alienation suit brought by Mrs. Clara Sears Hutchins of Dennis against Miss Esther M. Howes, a Bostonian and summer resident of the Cape, has been permanently enjoined by Judge Vincent Brogan of the Superior Court.

He is hearing an action in which the Boston spinster asks that the Dennis woman be restrained from bringing other "venations suits."

She said Mrs. Hutchins started making trouble 10 years ago, when she was still the wife of Howard

'Baby Bride' Busy With Dishes, Dolls

PRESTONBURG, Ky., Oct. 29 (INS)—Ten-year-old Mrs. Rosie Columbus Tackett divided her time today between "right smart cookin' and sewin'" for her new husband, Fleming Tackett, 34, and playing with raggedy dolls she'd put together from odds and ends.

HONEYMOON COTTAGE—Wide-eyed wonder at its very luxuriousness was accorded this cabin by 10-year-old Mrs. Rosie Columbus Tackett when she was made its mistress by her marriage to 23-year-old Fleming Tackett at Prestonburg, Ky.

The young wife outwardly was unperturbed either by her marriage or the wide interest it occasioned.

Even those who know her well were not sure whether the girl-wife was taking everything in stride or just enjoying a childish pleasure in puzzling "the writin' fellows."

Husband "Flem" also seemed unconcerned about the influx into his simple hill country of many strangers with many questions on their lips. But he was not unconcerned about Rosie. To his little wife neighbors noted that "Flem" was tender and attentive.

MOTHER ANSWERS

Rosie's mother did what talking was done, which wasn't much. When a reporter asked little Mrs. Tackett what she thought of her marriage—which took place last Monday—her mother answered for her.

"She's not sayin' much about that," commented her mother. However, the log-cabin honeymoon appeared headed for destruction as authorities opened an investigation.

Declaring he had no alternative but to enforce a law fixing the minimum age for a Kentucky girl to marry with consent at 14 years, County Attorney Forrest D. Short was to question the couple and the girl's mother late today.

CITES STATE LAW

"It's a pathetic proposition," said Attorney Short. "I have found from records that the girl is only 10 years of age, yet she is married to a man 34. I have definitely determined that her mother got the license by saying her daughter was 15."

"I want to talk to the whole family before taking any action, but I can't see any course but annulment."

Short indicated that any prosecution found necessary would include the mother.

"Evidently the mother wanted them to marry," Short added.

Rosie, clad in a gingham dress and cotton stockings, stood shyly by her husband in front of their "bran' new" two-room log cabin and ventured the opinion she would make him a good wife.

"How long had you and Flem been courtin' before you got married?" she was asked.

GET NEW HOME

Again her mother answered: "Oh, they'd been courtin' a long time—six or eight months, maybe. Slippin' around and courtin', you know."

Mrs. Columbus obtained the marriage license for Rosie, giving the girl's age as 15.

That the Columbus family was getting a new home, almost luxurious in comparison with the one in which they had been living, was one of the reasons many of the people here thought the marriage was an advantageous one all around.

Spain Navies Battle at Sea

VALENCIA, Oct. 29 (INS)—A furious sea battle between Spanish government and insurgent naval forces raged today some ten miles off the port of Valencia.

The crack cruiser Canarias, flagship of the insurgent navy, was reported participating in the engagement.

ARRIVING in Reno, Mrs. Dixie Davis established residence there immediately in effort to divorce the former Dutch Schultz lawyer. She is shown in hotel room after placing blame for wrecked marriage on Hope Dare, showgirl. Dixie figured prominently in the recent trial of Tammany leader James J. Hines on charges of graft.

Mute, He Faces Murder Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29 (AP)—An Alcatraz felon, James C. Lucas, reportedly speechless from fear, was ordered on trial Monday for the murder of a prison guard in a vain escape attempt.

Lucas, 26, Texas robber, appeared in Federal Court yesterday when Dr. Joseph Catton, San Francisco psychiatrist, made an official report on Lucas' mental condition.

Doctor Catton said Lucas was "scarcely speechless but is not insane."

Lawyers appointed by the court to represent Lucas and Rufus Franklin, 24, a co-defendant, had sought a postponement on the ground that Lucas was insane. The attorneys said they could not prepare their case because Lucas would not speak to them.

While Lucas, perspiring and mute, sat in court with bowed head, Doctor Catton said:

"He is in the condition of a woman with hysteria."

"His condition has been and is in line with flight from justice, escape from an intolerant situation and indicative of consciousness of guilt. . . . He has the mental capacity to know that if he shows signs of being insane he will not be executed."

The court thought Lucas "wane enough to go to trial."

'Murder on Alcatraz'—Next Monday

Lucas is mute, but the inside factual story of the murder for which he goes on trial begins in the Boston Evening American on Monday—"Murder on Alcatraz," by P. E. Reed, ex-convict, just released from the "Rock." Don't miss it.

Germany Wants Herriot Seeks All Colonies U. S. Peace Aid

LADEBURG, Germany, Oct. 29 (AP)—Germany demands the return of all her colonies, without exception, taken from her by the Versailles Treaty, General Franz Ritter Von Epp, governor of Bavaria, and Adolf Hitler's deputy for colonial matters, declared today.

He spoke at the opening of the Reich's colonial school.

Germany's pre-war possessions included, as African colonies, the Cameroons, Togoland, German Southwest Africa and German East Africa, now divided among mandates to France, Britain, Belgium and the Union of South Africa.

Other possessions included the Caroline and Marshall Islands in the Pacific, now under Japanese mandate; New Guinea, now mandated to Australia; German Samoa, now a New Zealand mandate, and Kiaochow, a German colony in China.

Tuesday Deadline For Realty Taxes

Deadline for payment of real estate taxes for 1938 is Tuesday.

If not paid by then, property owners incur interest charges. City Collector Merritt Thompson announces his office will be open until 5 p. m. Tuesday, and later if necessary.

MARSEILLE, Oct. 29 (AP)—Edouard Herriot, President of the French Chamber of Deputies, today appealed to the United States to participate in "the work of peace" through possible establishment of a permanent international organization.

Herriot made his appeal before the radical-Socialist party congress here, just after Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet had called for an economic settlement for Europe and the world as the sole means of assuring peace.

The chamber president, who discussed the war debt situation at the White House in April, 1933, asked that President Roosevelt "accord me a new audience and admit that peace demands more than international conferences—it demands a permanent organization."

'Heiress' Has Month To Repay Relief

Mrs. Bertha S. Pond, 53, of North Weymouth, today had until Dec. 30 to make restitution to the town of Weymouth of $510 which welfare officials said she obtained falsely from their department.

Welfare officers, stated she accepted the money after she was bequeathed $1000 two years ago. Judge Gertrude R. Halloran in Quincy district court ordered a suspended sentence of 10 days in the House of Correction.

Relativity Forced to Bow To Quintuplets

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—Babies, ethereal and lovely, hold the spotlight even when great scientists meet.

After all, the theory of relativity is something talked of with knowing nods while a baby—especially quintuplets—are much more tangible.

That's what happens when Professor Albert Einstein meets Dr. Allan Roy Dafeo, a scientist in his own right and the little country doctor who ushered quintuplets into the world.

Professor Einstein wanted to know all about the babies while Dr. Dafeo, well he didn't mention relativity at all.

They had just been introduced by a mutual friend, I. Lawrence Leshovoy. In New York for a few days, the Canadian doctor was eager to pay his respects to the great scientist, when he learned Einstein was also visiting in town.

WONDERFUL WORK

"You did wonderful work," said Professor Einstein as he clasped the doctor's hand in his two large palms.

"Oh, just pretty good," said the modest Dr. Dafeo.

"Pretty good? It is wonderful they lived," Einstein insisted.

"Well, altogether they weighed 9½ pounds. That was when they were born 4½ years ago—now they aggregate 200 pounds."

"They are beautiful babies," the professor beamed.

"I would be delighted," said Dr. Dafeo, "if you would honor us with a visit."

"That," agreed the scientist, "would be nice. You are proud of them. They are really your babies. You saved them."

GIVES MOTHER CREDIT

Dr. Dafeo's eyes were crinkling behind the spectacles and he cleared his throat and said: "Others deserve credit too."

"Yes," added Einstein, "I guess the mother should have credit, too."

"Are there many people who come to see them?"

"Many people," the guardian of the Dionne girls swelled with pride. "Why there were 240,000 in one summer."

Then remembering how it is with this brilliant figure, how shy he is how he is constantly shooing away reporters and photographers, he added:

"But you can come to see the little girls quietly. No one need know. We'll show you the beautiful country—lakes and all."

"Two hundred and forty thousand," murmured the man who revolutionized modern science. "In summer I usually go to the ocean. I would love to meet the babies. We shall see. We shall see."

Arm in arm, they walked to the stairway.

"I will send you a picture of the babies."

"Fine. That would be wonderful. Fine," said professor Einstein.

ALBERT EINSTEIN

Youth Jailed In Hitler Plot

BERLIN, Oct. 29 (INS)—Convicted of "preparing high treason," a number of youths, some of them in their teens, today received long sentences from the people's court.

The court announced the prisoners were "members of the so-called Youth League."

Their alleged plot, it was asserted, "was an attempt of Communist wire-pullers to incite the youth groups against Hitler youth and the state itself."

Those under age were sentenced to jail and the others to the penitentiary.

WARSAW, Oct. 29 (INS)—An "energetic" protest has been delivered to Germany by the Polish government against wholesale eviction of Polish Jews from the Reich, an official communique stated today.

"German authorities," said this statement, "ordered expulsion of a large number of Jews holding Polish passports. The Polish government has made an energetic demarche to Berlin."

Polish officials categorically denied reports that Germany already had forced Jews across the border.

plained that their menfolk had been removed from their residences during the night and hustled to railway stations for deportation.

At Munich 700 Polish Jews entered for the border at 5 a. m. Nearly 100 of these deportees were small children, and most of them were tragic figures as they left their homes amid scenes of weeping, heartbreak and despair.

The deportations continued, despite earlier reports the exodus would be brought to a halt. These reports had arisen with apparently erroneous word that Poland had agreed to accept Germany's views regarding passports.

The dispute arose over a new law in Poland which would bar re-entry after today to Poles living abroad who had neglected to have their passports renewed.

SAYS 120,000 HIT

The expulsion order was believed to have affected some 60,000 Polish Jews in the Reich. Its intent was to balk application of the new Warsaw passport law—probably for fear that the Polish measure would leave thousands of Jews stranded in the Reich without a country they could call their own.

(The London Daily Express estimated that 120,000 Polish Jews were involved in the roundup.)

The Polish embassy here lodged a strong demarche with the German government in protest against the expulsions, but, although one announcement said the deportations had been temporarily suspended, it later developed that Jews still were being sent across the Polish-German frontier.

It was believed that already some 20,000 or more Polish Jews have been turned out of the Reich as a result of the Berlin-Warsaw dispute.

many respects, are unlike any known organization of stars.

As is well known, the myriads of stars in the whole universe are not scattered at random. They are grouped in separate systems, known as galaxies or nebulae like our own Milky Way.

According to modern astronomy each system of stars is like a city in which the individual stars are separate houses. The cosmos as a whole, then, consists of all the stellar cities put together.

The evolution and even the origin of the whole universe, as well as of its constituent galaxies, are in the hands of scientists through careful comparisons of the various kinds of stellar systems.

It is from this viewpoint that Professor Shapley considers the stellar systems in the sculptor and Pegasus constellations as exceedingly important.

Dies To Reveal Roosevelt Hand

By CECIL B. DICKSON

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (INS)—Chairman Martin Dies today said he will reveal correspondence with President Roosevelt, cabinet members, New Dealers and the House Democratic leadership, in connection with his un-American activities investigating committee, in a nationwide radio broadcast Monday night.

Dies, whose conduct of the investigation was criticized for the second time this week by President Roosevelt at his press conference today, told International News Service:

"Through thousands of letters the people of the country are asking for full information on the administration's attitude toward this investigation into subversive activities and I am going to give it to them to let them form their own opinion about the pressure brought on this committee to stifle the investigation.

"The revelations, I believe, will be interesting.

"Regardless of the opposition shown in high quarters to the investigation, the people of the country are for it."

WOULD INTERVIEW PRESS

President Roosevelt suggested to his press conference that the correspondents covering the Dies hearing be interviewed. He said he thought there would be a good story in the reporters' views of the committee.

Mr. Roosevelt expressed his opinion in reply to a statement by Dies that the Chief Executive had been "misinformed" about the committee's activities, when he issued a statement that the committee had unfairly attacked Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan for his official attitude during the 1937 sit-down strikes.

A blistering attack was aimed at Dies today by Len De Caux, press relations chief of the CIO.

"LIES AND SLANDER"

De Caux said Dies' committee had furnished a forum to "labor spies and traitors, informers and slanderers, professional patrioteers and Red-baiters, and obscure publicity-hungry politicians" to "the and slander to their heart's content," with immunity.

De Caux's attack, which will appear in the CIO News tomorrow, continued.

"The hearings of the Dies un-American committee have become a public scandal, which has reached such proportion that they have earned an unprecedented rebuke from the President of the United States."

Dempsey Assails "Wild Statements"

SILVER CITY, N. M., Oct. 29 (AP)—A heated attack on the methods of the congressional committee investigating un-American activities came today from Representative J. J. Dempsey (D) of New Mexico, a member who threatened to resign from the group if "wild" statements about outstanding citizens continued to receive publicity. Dempsey, who with Representative A. D. Healy of Massachusetts Thursday asked and was refused a committee recess until after the elections, assailed what he termed "wild and irrational statements" being made about prominent and respected persons in testimony before the committee.

"If this method is to be followed," his telegram to Dies said, "it can only result in undoing what good the committee has accomplished and finally must result in total repudiation of these investigations."

"If we are to expect such a continuation I have no other alternative than to ask the speaker of the house to accept my resignation."

2 New Universes Found

By GOBIND BHENARI LAL

International News Service Science Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (INS)—Discovery of two systems of stars of a new kind, possibly containing worlds inhabited by strange living beings, was announced today by Prof. Harlow Shapley, director of the department of astronomy at Harvard University.

One of these new universes, consisting of more than ten thousand stars, was found to be located in the constellation of Pegasus, named after a Roman goddess who was the patron of bakers. The other universe, discovered a few months before, lies in the constellation of Sculptor.

Both the universes were discovered by most skillful photography of the sky in the southern hemisphere, using the powerful tele-

$20 Monthly Pay Boost For WPA, Curley Aim

By ALFRED D. WHELTON

An increase of $20 a month to WPA workers is the aim of former Governor James M. Curley, he announced early today as he ended a series of rallies through the Blackstone valley section of the state.

Against the announcement of the Democratic nominee for a second term as governor, however, came a blast from Leverett Saltonstall, Republican nominee, upon "promises which are forgotten immediately after election."

Curley's announcement was the highlight of a series of rallies at Milford, Blackstone, Uxbridge, Webster and Southbridge in which he attacked the Republican party as the "wreckers of this country."

He increased his previous offer of $25 to $10 for one reason why any person should vote for Saltonstall in the election November 8.

ANSWERS QUESTION

His WPA announcement came as a result of a question from one of his audiences on what he intended to do about WPA.

"I hope to increase the work from three to four days a week and the wage from $52 to $72 a month," he answered.

He went on to point out that under Democratic control of government goods manufactured in the United States would soon be protected by tariffs which would be protective enough to insure a measurable return of industry in Massachusetts and other parts of New England.

"The Democratic party is not responsible for the condition of America today," Curley said at one of several rallies.

"When Herbert Hoover became President 16 years ago we were the most prosperous of any country in the world. Then, out of a clear sky, came the financial debacle.

"It is hard for the average citizen to figure out how the Republicans wrecked the country in such a short space of time, but the fact is they went along thinking of property rights, or dollar rights but never a thought for the working people."

SALTONSTALL SPEAKS

At the Republican rallies through Lynn, Salem, Peabody and other sections of the North Shore, Saltonstall took credit as Speaker of the House for passage of the old age assistance law in 1930.

In addresses at industrial plants, Saltonstall declared that his leadership as Speaker of the House was responsible for many laws beneficial to labor, and promised many more in the event that he is elected governor.

The Republican nominee today, however, left unchallenged the request of Kenneth I. Taylor, secretary-treasurer of the Massachusetts State Federation of Labor for debate on his labor record against that of Curley's.

The Saltonstall campaign committee today announced endorsement by a group of 33 Boston lawyers headed by Harry M. Lewin and including among others Edith Drans, Jacob Wasserman, Sydney Goldberg, Morris Anapolsky, Morris Gille and Peter Borre.

Tonight the Democratic ticket is due for a swing north of Boston taking in rallies at Concord, Lexington, Arlington, Woburn, Stoneham and Wakefield.

Republican rallies are scheduled at Framingham, Marlboro, Hudson and Maynard.

Borah Warns F. R. to Limit Nazi Attacks

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (INS)—

President Roosevelt will have the support of Senator William E. Borah (R., Idaho), "every foot of the road," if the Executive's attacks on totalitarian regimes are aimed at protection of the western hemisphere against the system of government in Nazi Germany.

But if the President seeks to interfere with Nazi activities on foreign soil, the Idaho senator, a power in the Senate on foreign affairs, will be against such action "every inch of the way."

VIOLATION OF TREATIES

In making known his position today by way of comment upon President Roosevelt's national radio broadcast from the White House Wednesday night, Borah played the Munich pact and assailed Nazism as an enemy of democracy and liberty.

"I do not know what the President had in mind exactly," Borah said, "but I like to think that back of his words was the determination to let it be known that, while we urged the peaceful settlement of the Sudeten affair, we are not responsible for the terms and conditions which finally entered into the Munich Pact."

"The Munich Pact makes the violation of treaties, which involve the life of a nation, a cardinal tenet of modern diplomacy."

"No one has preached more persuasively and more persistently the sanctity of treaties than our Secretary of State. The Munich Pact makes the mere name of a treaty a by word and a hissing."

POINTS OUT IRONY

"If we are responsible in any way for the approval and utter disregard of as vital a treaty as was ever signed by a nation, we would have little right ever to open our mouth again about treaties."

Ironically, Borah said that for Great Britain and the United States had taught their youths that Nazism could not be trusted, but:

"Now, Mr. Chamberlain takes Mr. Hitler arm in arm, presents him the world with assurance that he has complete confidence that the little informal agreement which they signed could be relied upon to bring peace to the world," he added.

Battle of Candidates

Saltonstall, Curley Tell Election Aims

Beginning today, and for the remaining ten days of the state election campaign, the Boston Evening American and Boston Sunday Advertiser will publish articles concerning the aims, ambitions and aspirations of the Democratic and Republican gubernatorial candidates, James M. Curley and Leverett Saltonstall.

Mr. Saltonstall is the author of his own statements. The Curley articles are furnished by the Democratic state committee.

By LEVERETT SALTONSTALL

I deeply appreciate the responsibility which is mine to restore Massachusetts to her rightful place in this great nation. It is a responsibility which I owe to every voter in our State regardless of party or non-party affiliations.

I shall be elected Governor of Massachusetts on Nov. 8 because in all the public which I have ever held,

I have always kept every promise I ever made, and I always will.

I shall be elected Governor because I stand for honest service of every department of the government.

I stand for an honest state budget ever recognizing the fact that until such time as private business is ready to take care of the unemployed, it is the duty of the government to provide jobs for those who want work but are unable to get work.

WILL AID SEN. LODGE

I shall fight shoulder to shoulder with Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. of Massachusetts, for a tariff policy protecting Massachusetts labor, Massachusetts industry and the American standard of living.

I stand for local control of unemployment relief, with our fair share of federal grants, so that we may do away with a centralized bureaucratic control dominated by political influences, whether such control be state or national.

I stand for a real civil service, not one in theory, but one of fact, based solely on merit. The available jobs in our government will be filled by competent individuals.

Each qualified person of every race, creed and color is entitled to the opportunity to serve in the government of which he is a part.

FOR "REAL SECURITY"

I shall work for real security for the aged and for real opportunity and a real job for those in early life who have been forgotten.

I favor a drastic equitable revision of the Unemployment Compensation Law. There can be no excuse for endless delays and red tape. The worker is entitled to the benefits of the Act when his employment begins. He should not have to wait months before receiving such benefits.

I oppose a vast accumulation of funds in the Unemployment Compensation Fund. As the surplus builds up, the benefits to the worker should be increased instead of letting the surplus funds remain idle.

POINTS TO RECORD

I shall work ceaselessly to benefit the lot of the working man and woman. Many measures directly beneficial to labor were passed under my leadership as Speaker of the House of Representatives. Many more will be passed under my administration as governor.

I shall insist that contractors make honest bids, truck owners give honest service, and there will be no pay-off.

The funds of Massachusetts will be used for the benefit of the people whose money it is and for their benefit alone.

By the DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE

For a candidate to ask election or re-election to public office as a REWARD for services rendered is evidence of reasoning. It implies that the candidate instead of the public is to be served.

Although frequently lost sight of, particularly by the candidate, the purpose in electing a man to office is to put him in charge of a job which needs to be done; needs doing in the interest of the people.

It is exactly as though a citizen had a house to be built. He would engage the services of the most capable builder available.

The question of reward would not be thought of by the employer.

The employer would pay his employee for building the house. The reward of the employee would be the pay he received for building the house.

The question of reward would not be thought of by the employer. The employer would pay his employee for building the house. The reward of the employee would be the pay he received for building the house.

30 YEARS OF SERVICE

We have heard a candidate say that the service he had rendered in office gave him the right to serve again in the same or higher office.

No man occupies office in a democracy by virtue of any right. It is a privilege conferred, and may be renewed or terminated, as the electorate chooses.

As a candidate for governor James M. Curley cites his record of 30 years in public office and another ten years of service to the people of the Commonwealth in the capacity of a public-spirited private citizen.

FOR THE WORKERS

Whether in or out of office he has ever seen it as his duty, his privilege and his pleasure to advocate those great liberal and humanitarian principles and policies which he thought should be either retained or adopted as a means of safeguarding and furthering the interests of all the people, especially the working man and woman, the unemployed, the underprivileged child, the needy old and the destitute of all ages.

If he were forever denied the privilege of again holding public office, he still would forever, so long as he retained the physical strength, to raise his voice and the mental power to lift his voice, continue the struggle for human rights—a struggle that to him is the very breath of his country.

When that breath is ended and the good cross-bow falls from his hand he would rest content with no other epitaph than that the people of his state should say of him:

"James Michael Curley died with his face to the enemy, fighting for the needs of man."

Lincoln said, "I will prepare myself and my opportunity will come." His opportunity came, and he was ready to the salvation and undying glory of his country.

As a member of the old Boston Common Council, as a congressman, as mayor of the great city of Boston, and finally as governor, James Michael Curley was always preparing himself for the burdensome duties and responsibilities that may be expected to fall upon the governor's shoulders in 1939 and 1940.

New Federal Rail Aid Plan

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

Now that the utility spending plan has been made public, usually well informed financial circles are eyeing the railroad industry as the next recipient of federal favors.

However, instead of loaning money it is expected that a different form of aid will be extended needy carriers.

In all likelihood the next session of Congress will be asked to appropriate a billion dollars for the purchase of equipment.

Locomotives, cars and other needed durable goods would then be loaned to the roads.

The advantages of such a plan would be two-fold. First, it would take up a good deal of existing unemployment, relieving the administration of relief expenditures, as well as representing a recoverable asset instead of adding to the ever mounting deficit.

Second, rails with poor credit ratings would not have to undertake expensive financing in order to get needed equipment badly. And affected raw material industries would be given a sharp fillip to the general benefit of domestic economy.

The stock market behavior as though it had not gotten the needed technical correction out of its system as yet. So far, it has been accomplishing its purpose by more or less moving sideways. Unless a heavier volume of offerings soon appears, it should not be necessary for prices to slip much lower.

On our charts it now appears that the 116 level need not be attained before a new base is formed. Unless the position of prices is going to deteriorate sharply the 148-150 zone should hold the industrials. The rails are acting well on the tape and their position appears to be strong enough to warrant expecting nothing worse than 29.58-29.50.

Notebook . . . American Window Glass is likely by some as a current speculation . . . It is said to be operating at capacity . . . And its position in the industry is still strong . . . It accounts about 25 per cent of the industry's total sales . . . Southern Railway is the favored rail at present . . . Said to have made $1,000,000 in October . . . Expected to show about $1 per share in final quarter and end the year in the black.

Hanes is Named Undersecretary

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (INS)—President Roosevelt has elevated John W. Hanes, Wall Street financier and business man, from Assistant Secretary to Undersecretary of the Treasury, succeeding Professor Rowell Magill of Columbia University.

Hanes, who left 20 directorships in as many business concerns, first became a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Wagner Law Revision Is Urgent Need

By MERVILLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

International News Service Economic Commentator

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (INS)—Revision of the Wagner National Labor Relations Act to make it an effective instrument of industrial harmony, instead of class warfare, is still on the top of the people's agenda.

Senator Burke, of Nebraska, continues as a major spearhead in this constructive campaign.

It is understood that the Senator's recent European trip convinces him more than ever that there is a growing need for a revision of the Wagner Act.

He is represented as having no intention of withdrawing or even softening his opposition to the Wagner Act or the present personnel of the national labor relations board.

An answer to the technocratic fears that there would be insufficient work for human beings is presented in a fresh study by the bureau of the census of the distribution of the working force over a 60 year period.

FEWER HEAVY JOBS

Since 1870, as technology improved, it took relatively fewer workers to perform the heavy tasks of physical production, and relatively more were absorbed in the service occupations. For example, in 1870, more than 75 per cent of the nation's labor force was engaged in the production of physical goods. By 1930, this proportion had dropped to 52.9 per cent.

SIGN OF PROGRESS

It is a sign of economic progress that basic production can be done with relatively less manpower, workers released for less back breaking jobs.

An historical survey indicates that in every period of temporary depression little minds, speaking with loud voices, despairingly assert that the opportunity for human progress is all over.

Time and again the record of subsequent events belies the prophets of doom.

There is far more truth and penetrating insight in the forecast of Dr. Willis R. Whitney, chief researcher of the General Electric company who said:

"I would not care to say what I think electricity may do in the future, but we are always making the mistake of supposing we have exhausted our knowledge in any direction."

"Discoveries and inventions are not terminable. They are fresh starting points from which we can soar to new knowledge."

USE MORE ELECTRICITY

In the last 60 years of progress in the electrical age, horsepower installed in factories has increased fourteenfold; factories jobs threefold; wages elevenfold and productivity of individual workers fourfold. Population is but 2.6 times as large.

Despite depression, electrical progress has continued. The number of Mazda lamps sold rose from 834,000,000 in 1925 to 855,000,000 last year.

Electric refrigerators rose from 1,250,000 to 11,250,000; total kilowatt hours used rose from $3 billion to 100 billion; and passenger automobiles rose from 21,000,000 to 25,500,000.

Bonds Drop When Interest Rates Are High

By LEWIS HANEY

(Professor of Economics, New York University)

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Among questions received from readers this week, I select the following:

New York asks: "In your book on business forecasting, you say that bonds decline first, followed by commodity prices and then stocks. Why is this?"

Answer: Bonds of the high grade sort are investments. They give a fixed income (in dollars), which is capitalized at the current interest rate to determine the value of the bond.

Thus high interest rates are an immediate cause of low bond prices. A $100-par bond paying $5 a year is worth $100 when the interest rate is 5 per cent; but is worth only $83 1/3 at 6 per cent.

When business booms, the demand for money and credit rises rapidly, causing higher interest rates. These, in turn, cause a decline in bond prices, which is apt to come while the boom is still on.

Commodity prices also rise during booms, and this rise reduces the purchasing power of the fixed income which bonds yield, thus tending to lower bond prices.

But rising prices over-stimulate the buying and production of commodities, and excess supplies accumulate. Therefore, sometime after bond prices decline, we usually find commodity prices falling.

By that time, intelligent people begin to see that more corporations are going to earn less money. They therefore sell all stocks, and the market falls.

Detroit asks: "What has big business to offer the American people? Who instructed the banks to use other people's money to merge companies and unload stock on the public at fancy prices? I am not impressed with the claims of bankers that they cannot find worth while loans for their funds."

Answer: Big business has been and is an important means of enabling us to get the benefit of cheap steel, automobiles, rayon, electric light and power.

I think that some businesses get too big for maximum efficiency, and some become monopolistic.

CAMPBELL CONTROLS REO

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 29 (AP)—The election of Rowland Campbell, chairman of the board of the Reo Motor Car Company, as president and general manager, has been announced by the firm. Campbell recently gained control of Reo in a proxy battle with the former management.

HOURLY PLAY-BY-PLAY IN THE STOCK MARKET

The stock market turned in a mixed performance today as prices moved in a tight orbit around previous closing levels. Volume dried up markedly after an active opening.

10-11—The market began the week's final session on large volume but prices did little in either direction. Irregularity was the keynote as large blocks of rail and utility shares changed hands. The standard leaders were a shade on the downside, Westinghouse jumped ahead for better than a point gain. But there were few other changes as large. Trading quieted after the opening rush and prices sagged. There was not any pressure on the market and the lower trend seemed due to a lack of buying interest as much as anything else. Utilities held fairly well and by the end of the hour had encouraged comeback attempts elsewhere. Volume shares.

11—One or two of the rails were even a small whirl. Southern and Great Northern both did better. Steel came back a bit. Volume was of small proportions and brokers said it big fair to be the duller Saturday in weeks.

CENTRAL VERMONT RAILWAY

Boston After Dark

By GEORGE HOLLAND

DEER ISLAND will raise guinea pigs for the Boston Health Department . . . A newsreel theater for the Park Square Building is under consideration . . . Mary Lane, who performed her first fan dance at the Cocoanut Grove, is starting her fourth season at Jimmy Kelly's in Greenwich Village . . . It seems to the oversighted that the Lambeth Walk is very similar to the cakewalk . . .

Lou Smith's proposition to operate a horse-racing plant at Tampa, Florida, remains lukewarm, although ice-water was given the plan by Miami politicians who think that residents of the Florida west coast can journey east if they wish to play horses seriously enough . . .

The enterprise has reached the stage now where the Florida legislators are hearing pleas for an emergency permit . . . If the permit is granted, it will be in the name of Russ Murray, the Robert Taylor of dog-racing . . .

GEORGE HOLLAND

Although Wonderland Park will close tonight, the officials of the track have an election on their hands . . . Suffolk County is expected to vote a continuance of both horse and dog-racing . . . At Springfield, they say, the picture is quite different . . . The "daily double" at Revere last night was the largest "handle" of the season . . .

Fred Stone's return Monday night to the Colonial Theater will find the beloved comedian back on the stage where the famous Montgomery and Stone musical successes were staged . . . Fred is starring in "Lightnin'," a revival of the Frank Bacon play . . . The play didn't last long in New York, but is expected to do very well on tour . . . And the Theatre Guild, not yet out of its streak of failures, has closed the new York engagement of "Dame Nature," its first production of the season . . .

Top-servant Eddie Mack plans to stage boxing matches again at Mechanics Building . . . The San Sousa is open under new management . . . Sammy Fuller's never-closed delicatessen on Tremont street way Broadway is one of the most popular late spots for the visiting Thespians . . .

Barbara Lynn, flying to New York, suffered an attack of air-sickness and forfeited her job at the Posthouse because she was late in returning . . . So she got a contract the next day as a specialty dancer at Lake George, New York . . .

Albert Bushnell Hart, first professor of American history at Harvard, who is in his nineties, is being heard occasionally over the ether-waves . . . Known to his students as "Bushy," the famous educator gets correspondence from former students from many parts of the world . . . He lives still within a block of his alma mater . . .

No Confidence:

The owner of a race-hoss which won at a huge price the other day was betting a rival horseman for not having a bet on the horse when it popped down . . .

"I gave it to you, didn't I?" the owner of the winning horse demanded . . .

"Yes you gave it to me. But if you gave me 'Equipoise' in the eighth race I still wouldn't make a bet." . . . The eighth race was a $1000 claiming event . . .

Once Over Lightly:

The Harvard-Princeton hop at the Copley-Plaza drew a large crowd . . . In spite of the rain, the town was fairly lively last night . . . A new radio burglar alarm system is on the market, an electric eye apparatus which automatically broadcasts a message on local police short waves, when a window or door is opened . . .

A voice from a phonograph record will inform proud cars: "Come to such an address at once, BURGLARS!" . . . Radio networks in other sections will be surveying Sunday night at 9 p. m. the success of the James M. Curley hookup in eight cities of the state, with reports and speeches being cut in from the various centers . . .

Tommy Dorsey and his orchestra are installed at Levag's in Reading . . . Bostonians are getting the urge for Florida with receipt of folders from Florida hotels, and Jack Hertzman, who manages the Park Central at 7th street and the ocean, has covered the territory fairly well . . .

Exclusive:

Rockingham Park next season will cancel all passes except those given to the "working press" . . . Straight admission, 40 cents for the grandstand, 75 cents for the clubhouse, will be charged . . . Race-men see in this the start of the elimination of wholesale parking at all New England tracks . . . But whether "Gassett and Suffolk Downs follow suit, Rockingham has decided on its policy . . .

There probably will be a different admission system at the Revere dog track too . . . A charge of 25 cents admission is the likelihood . . .

Ted Meredith, the famous track star of a generation ago, has a son Ted, Jr. in the freshman class at Harvard . . . Followers of track and field events believe that young Ted will develop into a star . . . Another famous "junior," the son of Andy Kerr, Colgate football mentor, is attending medical school at Harvard . . .

You haven't read much about him yet, but his name is James Sullivan, a brother of Charles Sullivan, Dartmouth's great end of some seasons ago . . . At present the younger Sullivan is chirping signals for the Boston University Irish . . . Watch him next year . . .

If Bill Seally gets a national pro league football franchise, Babe Ruth will be part owner and will travel with the team . . .

Angus Asks Pine to Race To Bermuda

Out of Boston under a brisk wind down to Bermuda, around the island, and back to Halifax.

That's Captain Angus Walters' idea of a proper race for fishing schooners.

He'll back his Bluenose, victorious in the international races just sailed off Gloucester and Nahant, with $5000, if Captain Ben Pine of the Gertrude L. Thebaud will put up a like amount.

Or Captain Cecil Moulton, who sailed her the concluding races.

He declared the race would be fair to both crews, as, in such a sail, they would benefit by high winds as well as lazy airs.

It would be a question of seamanship, and he is confident his side would win in such a battle. Angus, a salty soul, with a tang to his speech which cannot be reproduced in a breakfast table newspaper, has not collected the $2500 prize money which is due him.

Nor the $5000 which he says the race committee owes him for expenses.

To make the picture darker, he can't find the Dennis Cup, the trophy in the race, which he loaned to a Boston store, and which was mysteriously returned, but not to him.

Captain Angus hasn't been having too dull a time. He has been entertained by the Legislature and the Canadian club.

'Sweetheart Of Mint' Out

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP)—Miss Mary M. O'Reilly, whose thirty-three years of service have won her unofficial designation as the "Sweetheart of the Treasury," retired today.

She left her duties as assistant director of the mint because she was 73. The law says she should have retired three years ago, but President Roosevelt extended her service on the urgent plea of clerks and cabinet members alike.

At her request there were no farewell ceremonies, but fellow employees persuaded her to accept a diamond-encrusted watch.

All of the current coins were first circulated during her official tenure. The dime is her favorite because she considers it the most dignified and beautiful. The latest coin she has seen come from the mold is the new Jefferson nickel, which will be made available to the public in about three weeks.

Miss O'Reilly entered Government service two years before joining the Treasury staff. Stated in respect on coins, she has been consulted by foreign governments.

She was born in Springfield, Mass., and came to Washington from New Orleans.

Actor Duprez Dies on Liner

LONDON, Oct. 29 (AP)—The death of Fred Duprez, 54, veteran American comedian, aboard the President Harding while en route to England, was reported today in messages from the liner.

The President Harding is due at Southampton November 1. His wife, the former Florence Mathews, is aboard the Bremen, which is due one day later.

Duprez was a native of Detroit and made his first appearance on the stage in 1899 after first studying medicine. He remained on the variety stage until 1915 when he joined the touring company of "The Passing Show of 1915."

A—The work-week is seven consecutive work days, BUT MAY BEGIN AT ANY TIME OF ANY DAY HAVE THAT NO CHANGE CAN BE MADE FOR THE PURPOSE OF EVADING THE ACT.

Q—How about sickness? How about vacations? What does the law hold on these points?

A—Interpretative Bulletin No. 4, of the act, states:

"... time lost for any reason, such as holidays, illness, vacations, during one work week cannot be made up the next day or any following work-week unless the employee receives time and one-half time overtime compensation for hours in excess of the 44 in the succeeding week."

TAKE POLITICS OUT OF RELIEF

Citizens, before you vote, ask these questions of all candidates for Congress:

- "Do you stand for the principle that there must be no political control or influence in the handling of relief funds, pump-priming money, agricultural benefit money or social security money?"
- "Do you favor the principle of having all such public expenditures supervised by a non-partisan, non-political board employing civil service personnel?"
- "Do you pledge yourself to work for the proper measures to put these principles into practical operation?"

Symphony Hits Concert Peak

By RUTH MARSTERS
Music Editor

An all-French program found the Boston Symphony Orchestra and Conductor Koussevitzky at a peak of performance at least approximating their superb best at yesterday afternoon's concert in Symphony Hall.

The choice of program no doubt was affected by the Boston Symphony's new French Ambassador, Maurice Strakosky, for whom a reception was held last night at the hotel.

The concert was one of the most pleasant and successful of the season. The program was a masterpiece of French music, and the orchestra played with a precision and power that was truly remarkable.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 29.—I am afraid Greta Garbo won't get her heart's desire to bring George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan" to the screen. Gabriel Pascal, producer of "Pygmalion," says she isn't the type.

It is the Hungarian to whom Shaw has entrusted the filming of his play, and he is now here in Hollywood.

Snapshots of Hollywood

The Spencer Tracys entertained the James Roosevelts at a family dinner; saw Joan Crawford play a new part at the House of Murphy with Charles Martin; Norma Shearer had a dinner in honor of Selma and Douglas Fairbanks; Margaret Weaver, back home again.

The preview of "Submarine Patrol" brought out half the town including George Bennett and Gilbert Roland and Richard Greene with his mother, who is so anxious to look like his best girl. Maxie Rosenbloom brought Thomas Ince to see what a swell actor he was, but Nancy Kelly who makes her debut, was so scared she couldn't attend and went to the stage shaking with her mother. That's all today. See you Monday.

Loew's Screens Jitterbug Film

The first actual films of the new national Jitterbug contest, conducted by the Boston Evening American for the Christmas Biscuit Fund, are now in the theatres at both Loew's State and Orpheum theatres.

The contest was won by Marie and Jimmy (son) of Houston, whose ability to dance longer and better than the rest of the "jitters" gave them the coveted title of champion Jitterbug of New England, and to the Loew's Orpheum, of Boston, Rudy Valdez and Hattie Marshala and a score of stage celebrities provided the music and entertainment.

The current attractions of Loew's State and Orpheum theatres are "You Can't Take It With You" and "Valdez in Paris." Last night's performance at the Orpheum, playing the contest of the champion Jitterbug and a number of other popular acts, was a success. Loew's State will play the same screen.

Stone Opens Monday

"Lightnin'" which has struck Broadway twice, hits Boston Monday evening, when Fred Stone appearing in John Gilling's revival production of the famous play of that name, begins a two-week engagement at the Loew's Orpheum.

Originally produced in 1913, with the late Frank Bacon in the title role, "Lightnin'" ran up an all-time high for consecutive performances, 1291 in all. The New York critics, reviewing it, ranked it at the beginning of the twentieth century. Musical success was its chief strength, only music, and in some cases, play that entered its twentieth century.

Peggy Blake
To Become Bride

By BETTY ALDEN

PEGGY BLAKE, daughter of Taylor, Jr., will become today's Harvard debutante. After the old girl has been pined and fawned upon, she caused a scene when she happened to see a friend who had something else to say about being a long time from now.

It went right down to a stretch of the Harvard and Peggy and Johnny to the end of the game the evening of and the bride as a sort of social occasion put on at home, or for this afternoon Peggy's mother, Mrs. William Taylor, of Beacon Street, is planning to have a party and the first of the game players that first party will be a husband and wife.

Peggy was born in 1911 and registered as Margaret, the daughter of the late Mr. William O. Blake. She graduated from Wellesley college in 1933-34 and is a member of the Junior League and Vassar Club. Her father is a son of Mrs. John I. Taylor, of Boston, and the late Mr. Taylor. He is reported for college at Harvard School and graduated from Harvard in 1907. He has a son and daughter, and is a member of the Dedham Country and Polo Club.

Deb Honored

THE BIG THREE, Princeton, Yale and Harvard, were well represented at the largest dance when Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wallace of Scituate, Longmeadow, gave last evening to present their daughter Joanne, who is on this season's Boston debutante list. Joanne is studying at the Erskine School and was honored at a luncheon given last week by Mrs. Paul Clark of Brookline. She made her curtsy to society last evening in a gown of white net and silver, with a muff of purple orchids to blend with her mother's plum crepe gown trimmed with deep fringe.

The debutante's brother, Laurence Wallace, came home from Yale to head the ushers and her sister Marjorie, returned from Vassar for the party. During the dance, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew B. Wallace and Mrs. Douglas Wallace gave a large dinner party for their niece at the Longmeadow Country Club. Boston deb at the affair included Beatrice Talbot, Edith Moffat, Dora Mason Redway, Polly Blodgett, J. in Thomson, Marietta Withington and Patricia Hawley.

One of the many dinners preceding the dance was given by Mary Jean Bellamy for her house guests, Mary Beecher Budd of Pine Manor in Wellesley, and John Orb of Yale.

Notes From a Society Editor's Cuff

NANCY STEVENS, one of last winter's most vivacious debutantes, is home from Belmont College this week-end to attend the Harvard-Princeton game and a number of its accompanying festivities. She is the daughter of Mr. B. W. Stevens of Westwood. Cynthia Stevens expects to be singing at loads of her sister deb's parties when her husband helps her gain a prominent reputation as a singer in Vassar. In this evening's Sophomore party she will sing the song she has written especially for her.

The infant son born to Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Minot, Jr., of Hingham, Thursday, will have plenty of coaching in two favorite sports when he grows up. For his grandfather Minot was an All-American football star at Harvard and his granddaddy Jerome Bennett is a publisher of yachting news. The baby will be christened Wayland Manning Minot III. Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Fay helped to blow out the candles on Mrs. Ruff Elliott's birthday cake at the party given for her by Mr. Elliott at the Towne Club the other evening.

BARBARA BULLITT, a pretty deb from the Blue Grass State, is taking an active part in the festivities of her sister deb's in Boston, and will be an usher at the opening night of the Ballet Russe, November 7, sponsored by the Museum of Modern Art. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall Bullitt of Louisville, Ky., who are spending the winter on Beacon street. Through her father she is related to Ambassador W. C. Bullitt. She will be presented at a dinner dance Armistice night.

Patrons of the opening night of the Ballet Russe on November 7, which will be sponsored by the Museum of Modern Art, will think they have stepped back into the days of Imperial Russia when they enter the restaurant room behind the tiers of boxes at the Opera House during intermission. All sorts of Russian delicacies will be served by Madame Natalie Morozova.

The Museum of Modern Art is making a great season of the benefit but in a way very different from the usual benefit night. Instead of the customary trays of sandwiches and pastries, the deb's have agreed to usher and also to dance with the guests.

Amateur Boxing All-America Bouts
Hits New High Start Nov. 7

By JACK CONWAY

AMATEUR BOXING will reach a new high for the season when the finals of the Golden Glove tournament are staged at the Arena on Monday night by the Irish-American A. A.

Mr. Boston

The main contenders will clash and decide the question of ring supremacy.

There have been numerous knockouts in the Golden Glove tournament. The youthful punch flingers have displayed exceptional ability. The veterans of last year have improved, while there are numerous novices who have done well under fire.

Tom Kanary says that the boxers who will meet Monday night are well matched and that the competition should be keen.

The Golden Glove tournament will be followed by the Hearst All-America tournament that opens with trials at the Arena on November 7. There will be a third and final contest on November 14, November 21 and November 28.

The New England finals will be conducted in the Garden on December 5 with the All-American finals being staged in the Garden on December 12. In the All-American finals there will be teams from New York, New York, Albany and Baltimore.

The finals of the Golden Glove tournament will be held at the Arena on Monday night and the finals of the Hearst All-America tournament will be held at the Arena on Tuesday night.

In addition to the eight regular open classes, the Hearst All-America tournament will also have eight novice classes. Under this system every youngster with ring ambitions will have an opportunity to blaze his way along the fight trail that leads to a world's title and riches.

With interest in amateur boxing. The fact that the Golden Glove tournament is being conducted in the Garden on Monday night and the finals of the Hearst All-America tournament will be held at the Arena on Tuesday night.

78,400 Fans To See Army, Irish Contest

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP).—The 78,400 fans who will see the Army and the Irish in the final of the Golden Glove tournament at the Yankee Stadium today will see the "Big Three" game of the season's oldest international and most rivalry.

The Cadets unable to do better than a 6-6 tie, in 1935, over the last six years, again will be underdogs against the Irish, who came up to this game undefeated and untied for the season. Army is likely to be handicapped by injuries to several key men, notably Wilson and Schwenk in the back field.

Caplin, Ed Wood still will be able to lead an experienced starting team, but the Cadets have departed his reserves, in which Notre Dame is expected to start at that position, with Sweden and Sheridan. His replacements, particularly all over the line, will be a problem.

As further disadvantage to the Cadets, the Irish have won the last three games of the season, while the Cadets have lost the last three. The Irish have won the last three games of the season, while the Cadets have lost the last three.

The game will be broadcast on the radio and the stadium will be filled with fans.

ARMY: Boston to start in the back field. The Irish have won the last three games of the season, while the Cadets have lost the last three.

Crimson Gridders Choice in Betting

By BILL GRIMES

Back to the last man by the most enthusiastic assembly of alumni and undergraduates that ever banded themselves together in support of a losing team, Harvard will open the defense of its "Big Three" title against Princeton this afternoon in the Stadium.

For some unaccountable reason, the Crimson has been made a slight favorite. The Tigers, on paper, are the better club. And a comparison of the season's record gives the edge to the Orange and Black. Both Harvard and Princeton were beaten by Dartmouth but, while the Crimson has never won in four starts, the Tigers hold a decision over the powerful Penn even and were awarded a tie with Navy.

It must have been the lunch perversity that made Harvard the favorite.

Back in 1916, Ralph Harlow scored a goal from the foot to give Harvard a 1-0 victory over Princeton in the Stadium. Since that memorable afternoon the Tigers have played six games in the Harvard Stadium without meeting a single defeat.

And here is what must have caused Harvard into the favor of the lunch perversity.

Two years after Harlow's win, Ralph Harlow played a 14 to 14 tie in the Stadium. And by a strange coincidence the Crimson and the Orange and Black played a 14 to 14 tie two years ago in the Stadium.

It would be hard to complete the story today.

Writing has been a great power in the past. The Tiger has been a great power in the past. The Tiger has been a great power in the past.

With one exception Coach Dick Harlow will start the same team that opened against Dartmouth. Dave Glueck has been assigned to the old guard backfield. Bill Green, who has turned in some stellar performances this fall, has been benched.

GARDIELLA IN DEMAND

Joe Gardiella didn't go into the game against Princeton and Cornell, but he has been kept busy for the past fortnight and will be one of the hottest players in the Stadium.

Two years after Harlow's win, Ralph Harlow played a 14 to 14 tie in the Stadium. And by a strange coincidence the Crimson and the Orange and Black played a 14 to 14 tie two years ago in the Stadium.

It would be hard to complete the story today.

TIGERS LACKING

The Tigers are not so well equipped for this afternoon's game. A number of their key players are missing.

There are two great players missing from the Tigers lineup. Al Harlow, who scored the goal that gave Harvard a 1-0 victory over Princeton in the Stadium, is missing.

The inability of Bob Jackson to get into action will cripple the Princeton aerial attack for the

Tiger Claws Primed and hopeful of making a meal out of John Harvard at the Stadium today is this bristling Tiger array. 25,000 See Colgate Tackle Holy Cross Dobie Boys Dartmouth 12-5 At Top Form Choice Over Yale For 'Gators'

WORCESTER, Oct. 29—Andy Kerr's Colgate Red Raiders and Dr. Eddie Anderson's Holy Cross Crusaders waited the whistle here today for one of the most spectacular battles of the year before some 25,000 cash customers.

Both teams had much to talk about after the previous game. Colgate had lost to Holy Cross, and Holy Cross had lost to Dartmouth. The game was expected to be a close one.

Colgate's attack was well backed up by the defense. The Holy Cross defense was also well backed up by the offense. The game was a close one.

The Dobie boys of Dartmouth were expected to win the game. They were a strong team.

Then Florida's attack was well backed up by the defense. The Dobie boys were a strong team.

PLAN OPEN GAME

Thus Dobie had his boys on edge today ready to continue their open season of football with plenty of deception and speed. The team was expected to win.

The B.C. line was to have three men and Capt. Elmer [Name] as a tackle. The team was expected to win.

Coach Cody had for an opening backfield Bialock Johnson Scott and Mukahy. The four were familiar and tested Florida into the win column. Quarterback Bialock, 150 pounds, was proclaimed as the sole big man in a unit depending on speed and power.

GATOR LINE HAS EDGE

The Florida line, a bit heavier than the Eagles, included enough first rate toilers to force the game.

It's an old southern custom for teams from the sector to play their best football in the North. Whether the cold air helps them up, or whether the inspiration of inter-sectional football provides the spur, the Florida players this morning at the Stator appeared very much on edge.

Everett, Somerville Top Card

Rejuvenated Lynn Club Plays Lowell

Everett high school faces its third loss in as many weeks this afternoon when it entertains the undefeated Somerville eleven at the Stadium in one of the feature games on the weekly schoolboy grid card.

Although unbeaten, Somerville has been tied in its last four starts after getting the season underway in grand style with a pair of victories.

Coach Art McManus attributes these deadlocks to the loss of his two offensive aces, Carl Lucas and Lena Ferrarini, but has high hopes that their loss will be remedied by the sophomore flash, Art Rego. Lucas and Ferrarini will both be available for the tilt but will be kept on the sidelines for the most part provided Rego lives up to his practice season promise.

EVERETT RIDDLED

Coach Dennis Glidewell's Everett squad has been hard hit by injuries while dropping its last two starts by single point margins and the loss of three of the starting eleven doesn't raise the home team's prospects.

Undefeated and unscored upon, Lowell has another tough fight on its hands at the Manning Bowl against Lynn Classical.

Bill Joyce's club has had an in-and-out season and the Classical mentor has the boys primed for this game which would bring a lead of prestige to the Lynn boys should they win.

Lowell, after battling Malden to a scoreless tie, will start the same team that opened against the Golden Tornado, which includes Chris Zoukis and Pete Koucalas, backfield aces.

MALDEN AT LAWRENCE

Malden travels to Lawrence and shouldn't have too much trouble tipping over Mark Devlin's club which fell before Lynn English last week.

The much discussed Lynn English-Revere tilt at the Memorial Stadium in Chelsea shapes up as another win for the fast traveling Whelan outfit.

Revere will be without its big offensive cog, Bob McGuigan, who has been out of practice all week.

Two league titles should find resting places with the outcome of the Newton-Rindge Tech and Winthrop-Wakefield battles.

The Technicians, in top place, stand a fine chance to clinch the Suburban League against Newton which has yet to register its first win of the season.

SOFT FOR WINTHROP

Winthrop's undefeated record should not be demolished against the Mystic Valley loop foe.

Salem and Brockton will clash in a tilt that usually produces a lot of fireworks and should again this year in spite of the fact that neither club is in the running for the state title.

Harry Downes' Brookline team should break into the victory column for the first time against a weak Fitchburg team.

Duquesne Beats Detroit, 14-6

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 29 (AP)—Big Carl Nery, Duquesne tackle, played a lot in the backfield to night and as a result his team tasted a sweet 14-6 victory over the University of Detroit at Forbes Field.

Nery's thumping punts kept Detroit in a hole throughout most of the game and he was a stalwart on defense. He also figured in the first of the home club's two touchdowns.

Up and At 'Em

Malden is mighty proud of Norman Brown, Art Zampitella and Pat Darone, pictured above. This trio has been instrumental in keeping the local club in the limelight and are sure to show their prowess this afternoon when they encounter Lawrence.

ELI JAYVEES WIN

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—A high wind gave the Yale jayvee football team a 7-0 victory over the Army jayvees in their annual game.

South Carolina

Ties Villanova, 6-6

ORANGEBURG, S. C., Oct. 29 (INS)—An underdog South Carolina gamecock today had staged something of an upset in holding Clipper Smith's Wildcats of Villanova, undefeated since 1936 to a 6-6 tie before 6000 football fans here.

Both touchdowns came a few minutes apart in the third period.

wrestling game, and appears to have found it in the Caseys of Kerry. The three Caseys, Steve, Tom and Jim, gave the fans more wrestling thrills at the Garden than they have received since youthful Dan O'Mahony was at the peak of his sensational career. Tom Casey was the sensation of the show with Brother Jim a close second. Steve wrestled his usual good bout.

Tom is one of the shiftest wrestlers to ever step into a Boston ring. This is partly due to his previous history as a professional boxer. He moves around the ring with ease and grace, and when it comes to tossing punches he is 100 per cent ahead of the average wrestler.

Tom fights before he throws his right hand. He made Jim Wallis, former Holy Cross star, look bad as he nailed him with crashing right-hand socks to the jaw.

Jim is a big, handsome fellow, moves quickly and has tremendous power.

Pat, another member of the Casey clan, is expected to arrive in this country next month. His sailing to the United States was delayed by a severe cold.

Steve knew what he was talking about when he said the world's heavyweight wrestling championship would remain in the Casey family for a good many years. The Caseys of Kerry have the power and wrestling ability to take care of themselves against all comers.

The wrestling and boxing games in Boston will also benefit by the closing of the racing season at Wonderland Park tonight. The dog track averaged 17,000 persons a night, and many of these individuals will now look to wrestling and boxing for their excitement.

Random Shots at Target

JUDGE JAMES E. DOOLEY tells me he is pleased by the high calibre of racing at Narragansett Park this year. . . Judge Dooley says economic conditions have kept down the mutual handle, but he isn't too much concerned over that matter as he knows that with good racing Narragansett Park will prove a profitable plant over a period of years. . . Judge Dooley plans to conduct two charity days before the present meeting closes. . . Racing has always done its part to help the poor and unfortunate.

Sam Lewis of Roxbury is among those seeking a "yes" vote on horse racing. Sam has been active in sports events for many years. It is likely that racing will return a net profit of $2,000,000 to the State, according to Chairman Charles F. Connors of the Massachusetts Racing Commission. . . The meeting that closes at Wonderland Park tonight has helped boost the mutual handle and attendance.

McCarthy

Paid Tribute
By Bill Werber

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Oct. 29 (AP)—It isn't the power of the world champion New York Yankees that makes them a great ball club, says Bill Werber, once leading base stealer in the American League, but the "shot in the arm" they get from Manager Joe McCarthy and Coach Art Fletcher.

"It is my honest opinion there were better ball clubs in the American League last season than the Yanks from the standpoint of power," the Athletic third sacker told a sportsman's club here. "But it was the driving influence of McCarthy and Fletcher that had a lot to do with making the Ruppert men champions."

Pick Ohio State To Defeat N. Y. U.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—Ohio State's beefy football team will be heavily favored to repeat its 1936 triumph over New York University when their football teams meet today at the Polo Grounds. A crowd of 25,000 is expected to see the game.

In a desperate effort to shake N. Y. U. out of its tracks, Coach Ma Stevens has benched two of his senior backs, Harry Shorten and Ed Williams, and put Al Campanis and Stan Mikulka, both half and fullback, respectively, in their berths at right

N. Y. Bout

Bookies

NEW YORK, Oct. 29 (AP)—

There's a lot of dynamite getting ready to explode in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night when Hammerin' Henry Armstrong defends his welterweight championship against Ceferino Garcia and the celebrated "Bolo Punch."

The bout is scheduled for 15 rounds, but everything points to a knockout for one or the other well before the limit is reached. The records of both fairly shout "kayo." Armstrong, the little Los Angeles Negro who waded through three divisions to championship heights, has stopped 35 of his last 39 opponents. Garcia, a full-sized welterweight, has put 11 away in 12 starts.

Up to today, the bet-makers weren't quite sure just how they would set their odds, since one punch can decide the issue. Garcia opened as an 8 to 5 favorite, but the price has dropped now to something around 6 to 5 and pick your man. And when the fight was odds-setters start apeling that line, things are likely to pop.

GARCIA HAS WEIGHT

Garcia, the Filipino who fights out of San Francisco, may have a weight pull as much as ten pounds on Armstrong. Hammerin' Henry figures on weighing in at something around 134 pounds, but he has been giving away weight for most of his recent fights and it hasn't made much difference. Promoter Mike Jacobs, opening the Garden's big time indoor fight season with this tid-bit, optimistically figures on a gate of $100,000, which would just about pack the big sports palace on Eighth avenue. All signs point to a crowd of about 16,000 or 17,000 turning out.

Armstrong's last bout was against Lou Ambers in August, when he completed the fight without any unprecedented triple by adding the lightweight crown to his featherweight and welterweight laurels. His mouth was cut in that bout and he has laid off since. Recently he gave up the featherweight championship because of the difficulty he had making the 126-pound limit.

Garcia, too, has been idle in recent weeks. He fought Jackie Burke twice in the West in July, putting him away both times in a few rounds. Only Glen Lee, the sturdy Nebraska middleweight, managed to beat him in his last dozen trips to the post.

SECOND TITLE GO

The Filipino will be making his second stab at the 147-pound honors in this go. Once before, in 1937, he tried to take the title from Barney Ross, and after putting the classy Chicagoan on the floor with his famed bolo punch—a right uppercut that does terrific damage—he was outpointed. Barney then dropped the title to Armstrong in a grueling 13-rounder here last May.

Bruins Break Camp to Take Olympic Club

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 29.—What Manager Art Ross termed as the "finest conditioned Bruins Squad I've ever seen for this time of year" waved farewell to its Hershey training site today and was on its way to Boston via Pittsburgh where the Rossman will stop over to meet Larry Aurie's Int-Am. League Hornets in their final road exhibition tonight.

The Bruins tomorrow night will make their first appearance of the season before Boston hockey fans when they meet the Boston Olympics in an exhibition game at the Garden starting at 8:30 p. m.

Manager Art Ross disclosed today that the game with the Olympics would be played in three 15-minute periods and that at the conclusion of the game the Bruins would stage an inter-squad scrimmage.

SHORE ON BRIMSEK TEAM
For the squad scrimmage, Manager Ross has designated Tiny Thompson as leader of one team and Frank Brimsek as leader of the second team. They will be the "Thompson" rival goalies. The "Thompson" will have DH Clapper and Flash Hollett on defense and Porky Dumart, Milt Schmidt and Bobby Bauer in their first line. Their second line will consist of Roy Conacher, Pat McReavy and Mel Hill.

The "Brimseks" will have Eddie Shore and Jack Portland on defense, with Bill Cowley, Ray Gettiffe and Charlie Sands in the line. Cooney Weiland, Gordon Pettlinger and Harry Frost will play the second line.

Part of the proceeds of this game is to go to the American Olympic Hockey Fund, and the entire Garden will be unreserved.

Simon Pures To Toss Heavy Punches

The "cream" of the New England amateur boxing ranks are putting the finishing touches to their training for the grand finals of the 1938 Golden Gloves championships, which are to be held at the Boston Arena next Monday night.

The youthful punchers who will make up the card for the finals are as classy a lot of simon-pures as ever graced any big tournament program.

Twenty-two or twenty-three bouts will be staged in eight classes of competition—six in open weights at 118, 126, 135, 147, 160 pounds and heavyweights, and two divisions of novices at 147 pounds and 160 pounds. Every one of these boxers has earned the right to fight for Golden Gloves titles by qualifying in one of the four tryout tournaments just completed.

The featherweight class should produce some great fighting. When boys like Leo DuLaine of Milbury, Russell Sherry of Taunton, Edward Borden of Cambridge and William Daley of Roxbury swing into action the fur is bound to fly.

DuLaine is a brother of Eddie DuLaine, former State and New England lightweight titleholder, and looks even better at this stage of the game than the other member of his family did. Sherry of Taunton showed plenty of class in winning his tryout and will have to be given serious consideration when picking a winner for Monday night.

Borden had every one of the 4000 fans at the Arena last Monday night on edge every second he was in the ring and packs a terrific wallop in either mitt. Daley is a seasoned campaigner and one of the best looking featherweights developed in the amateur ranks in a long time.

The 147 pound novice class will be a humdinger. The four tyros who will fight for the title have styles of boxing that endear them to every fight fan. They are all rugged and willing punchers, and never pull a blow. James Pettie of Woburn, Donald Garceau of Taunton, Nathaniel Nelson of Boston and Joe McDonald of Medford will give the fans something to think of when they square away in their semi-final contests on Monday night.

BOSTON BOXER BEATEN
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29 (AP)—Eli Wesley, 146½, Philadelphia, knocked out Lew Raymond, 148, of Boston, in 1:24 of the first round of their scheduled 10-rounder in the windup of a boxing show here Raymond substituted for Louis "Kid" Cocca of New York.

B.U. Loses Fenway For Tampa Game

Not since the pre-war days has Harvard been able to boast of such remarkable spirit among its undergraduates. . . . John Mooney, a 145-pound editor of the University of Iowa student publication, must know his Hawkeyes. . . . For a caustic story of the Colgate-Iowa game, Mooney was tossed off the practise field by Henry Lurbeck, 208 pound varsity tackle. . . . When he landed, Mooney yelled "I'm the first guy you've taken out this season" . . . Ray Kolp, the former big league hurler, is trying to get Mike Kelly to sign him as coach of the Indianapolis Millers. . . . Frank Fripp, who played third base for the Crimson a couple of decades back, came to town for the Princeton game. . . . John Tolman, who hails from Glasgow, Scotland, claims that by applying his knowledge of mathematics to every stroke, he has been able to get his game down into the 70s. . . . There's nothing new in that system. . . . Russ Evans, the Newark pitcher the Dodgers drafted for $7500, cost the New York Giants $12,500. . . . They neglected to recall him, and the Daffiness Boys picked him up. . . . Duffy Lewis, the Bees' efficient road secretary, predicts a brilliant gridiron future for Bill Foley, Jr., son of the D. A. . . . Jack Onslow and Red Rolfe, the Yankee third baseman, were hunting this week up in Danbury, N. H. . . . Red wasn't up to his usual standard with the bat last season but, according to the baseball coach of the air, he's shooting much better. . . . When Boston College finally decided to play Indiana at Fenway Park, Boston University was left holding the bag. . . . The Terriers thought they had Fenway Park engaged for one week from today, when they are to meet Tampa University. . . . But it now seems that the Eagles have the first call on the ball park, and B. U. is trying to get National League Field. . . . There are few better all around schoolboy backs than Capt. Bill Devine of Jamaica Plain High. . . . Recently at National League Field, "Skip" Shertlock and Leo Goulston met for the first time in 41 years. . . . "Skip" must have a great memory for without any help, he said, "I remember you're Leopold Morse Goulston." . . . Del Baker, manager of the Detroit Tigers, will toss out the first puck tonight when the Red Wings and Cleveland Barons meet in Windsor, Ont. . . . "Under 'Buck' Shaw, Santa Clara has won 21 out of 22 games over a three-year stretch. . . . "Buck" succeeded "Clipper" Smith. GRIMES.

Harlow Puzzles Harvard Fans

Is Dick Harlow quitting as head football coach at Harvard University?

That question was raised following a pointed reference by the Crimson mentor at the Harvard Varsity Club annual dinner when he told 200 members:

"I hope when I step out of the picture at Harvard I shall leave our relations with Princeton sweeter than they have ever been before."

The statement recalled reports

last December that Harlow, who came here from Western Maryland in 1934, was offered a job as football coach and director of athletics at University of Pennsylvania but turned it down. Last March Hae Crowther, line coach, and Howdie Odell, backfield coach, two of Harlow's aides at Harvard, quit to go to Penn. At that time rumors they went to pave the way for Harlow were vehemently denied by the Harvard coach.

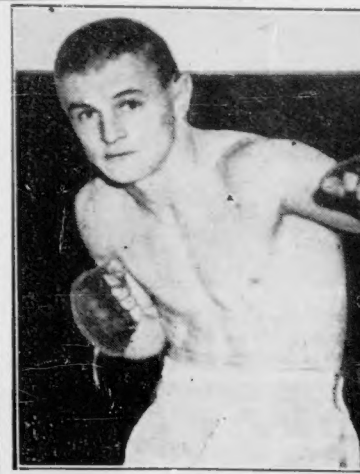

Zannelli Stops Synnott in 7th

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 28 (AP)—Ralph Zannelli, Providence welterweight, gained a seventh round technical knockout verdict over Babe Synnott of Fall River in the scheduled 10-round feature bout.

Zannelli floored Synnott twice for nine counts and had the Fall River boy on the verge of a knockout when his seconds tossed in a towel. Zannelli weighed 148.

Al Gainer Beaten by Lewis

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 28 (AP)—John Henry Lewis went full steam ahead in the final five rounds to pound New Haven's Al Gainer into submission and retain his world light-heavyweight title last night.

Eddie Borden, husky Cambridge 126-pounder, who will compete Monday in Golden Glove finals at Arena. Winners will qualify for W. R. Hearst all-America championships at Garden.

Local boys on Tiger eleven that snarls in Stadium today are Alfred L. Lane of Arlington, Howard F. Casey of Jamaica Plain and Robert K. Jackson of Whitman. Harvard is given a slight edge over Princeton.
